COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD THIS MORNING

Five Honored By Lawrence

Outstanding Work in Art, Religion, Business Recognized

Honorary degrees for outstanding work in science, art, religion, and business were conferred upon five men and women at the seventy-third annual commencement exercises of Lawrence college held at the memorial chapel this morning. Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of the college conferred the degrees upon the candidates who were presented by Dr. Wilson S. Naylor, dean of the college.

To Fred Wesley Sargent, railway president, who was awarded the degree of doctor of laws, Dr. Wriston said: "Because you bring to the great enterprise of transportation rare administrative capacity, high ideals, force of character and devoted industry; because your policy is enlightened by a statesmanlike understanding and appreciation of the public interest, we are happy to honor you."

Mr. Sargent received his LL.B. from the university of Iowa in 1901 and that same year began to practice law in Sioux City, Iowa. In 1923 he was made vice-president and general counsel for the C. and N.W. Railroad Co. and the C. St. P. M. and O. railroad Co. He has been president of both railroads since 1925.

Samuel Alfred Barrett, anthropologist, was awarded the degree of doctor of science. In 1905 Dr. Barrett received his B.S. from the university of California, in 1906 his M.S., and in 1908 his Ph.D. In 1909 he became curator of anthropology at the Milwaukee Public Museum, and since 1920 he has been director of the museum. Last year he conducted an expedition into Africa. In conferring the degree Dr. Wriston said:

"Of an age and a people concerned so largely with their own present you have chosen to devote your life to the interpretation, for us, of other races and past epochs; in recognition of your service to the people of Wisconsin and to the world of scholarship by your researches in anthropology and your skilled management of a great museum, it is with pleasure that, by writing the authority vested (Continued on Page 6)

Theta Sigma Phi Winners Selected

"Elaine", by Dorothy Dana, '29, and "Scuttled", by Charlotte Nichols, '32, were awarded the decisions for the best poem and short story in the literary supplement to the Lawrentian which was issued May 3 by Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary and professional journalistic fraternity for women.

Miss Dana is a member of Theta Sigma Phi and has contributed regularly to Ships, anthology of Lawrence verse, and to the supplement. She has been a member of the Lawrentian staff for three years. Dix Harwood, formerly of the Lawrence English department and now connected with the D. C. Heath and Company, publishers, Boston, Mass., judged the poetry. His comment on Miss Dana's poem was that "it contains a fine idea."

Miss Dorothy Waples, assistant professor in English, selected "Scuttled" as the best story. Of that story she said, "I chose this story for its unusually successful description and its capture of a mood."

Theta Sigma Phi will give a book to the winner of each contest.

Made Mus. D By Centenary

Work In Music Recognized By Louisiana College

By Madalyn Johnson

Significant recognition of the work of Carl J. Waterman, dean of the conservatory, both as a choral coach and as a progressive leader in the music field was made on Wednesday, June 5, in the conferring of an honorary degree, Mus. D. honoris causa, by the oldest college west of the Mississippi, Centenary college, Shreveport, Louisiana.

The dean who is a Lawrence alumnus, entered the Lawrence Institute in 1901, and after graduation from the conservatory, taught for five years in a boy's school at Waukesha, going into Chicago to study week ends. He came to the conservatory as dean in 1920 after study in the East both at Columbia university and with Herbert Witherspoon, and after work at the American conservatory at Chicago coupled with private coaching with Carlton Hackett and D. A. Clippinger.

During the nine years of his regime, the conservatory has come to be recognized as one of the finest in the country, and through Waterman's work in choral productions, through his launching of the annual May music festival; through his influence in maintaining the superlative calibre of the artist series, Lawrence is making strides towards a recognized position as one of the finest music centers in the Middle West.

It is especially significant that honorary recognition should come from a college whose history is so closely coupled with the vital history of the nation. Centenary college, founded over a century ago in 1825, grew through the strife of the civil war, the trials of the reconstruction period, and the industrial revolution. Judah P. Benjamin, secretary of the Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, its president, Sidel, Mason, Ellis, W. B. Spencer and other makers of history were educated at Centenary.

Spade And Spoon Awarded To Helen Bergmann, Jerry Slavik

By Howard Klatt

A tradition that is nearly as old as Lawrence college was repeated with the awarding of the junior spade to Helen Bergmann, Milwaukee, and the junior spoon to Jerry Slavik, Elgin, Illinois.

The history of the spoon carries back to the time when a peace council between the white men and Indians was held, at which time a wooden spoon, supposed to be magic, was given by the redmen as an emblem of their good will. The white soldiers' captain dreamed that a college would be built on that site; then when his dream came true in 1849 the captain's grandson presented the spoon to Lawrence to be given each year to a prominent man on the campus who also was the homeliest.

Evan Page Briggs in 1876 was the first to receive the spoon, and in 1896 Professor A. A. Trever was the recipient. Several times the spoon disappeared, but always it reappeared with seemingly magic power.

The tradition was changed in 1913 because of the scarcity of homely men. Thereafter the spoon went to

He attended Kansas Theological seminary and was made deacon in 1904 and priest in 1905. At the present time he is chaplain and bishop of Western Missouri.

Dr. Barrett Speaks To Phi Beta Kappa

Address On "Africa" Given Friday At Congregational Church

Picturing Africa as it actually exists, rather than as it is commonly misrepresented, Dr. S. A. Barrett, director of the Milwaukee public museum, who delivered the annual Phi Beta Kappa address Friday evening at the Congregational church said, "British East Africa is the tamest, finest country I know."

Dr. Barrett endeavored to correct the mistaken impression of Africa as a country of dense jungles inhabited by man-eating animals by taking the audience with him upon an imaginary trip to British East Africa, a trip from which the speaker had recently returned. The lecture was illustrated by colored slides and moving pictures taken on the expedition which went out to secure bird and mammal groups for the Milwaukee museum.

Describing the work involved in collecting, Dr. Barrett pointed out that there were many important steps included. The great heat of the sun required that the animal be removed at once to a shady place or to the camp. Good photographs must be taken and detailed observance must be made of the coloring of all the parts. Plaster casts must be constructed and 72 measurements must be carefully made. All the skeletons must be carefully preserved and the skin is pared, cured, finished, and finally hermetically sealed in cans for shipment.

Forty-four mammal groups, each consisting of from three to five animals, and a large number of bird groups were secured on this trip. Simba, a baby lion, was tamed and brought back for a pet. Excellent pictures, both movies and slides, of the lion, the king of the beasts, were shown by Dr. Barrett, who pointed out that a lion is not an unfriendly animal, but the caution to remember is never to shoot at a lion, for a wounded lion is a dangerous one.

Dr. Barrett told of the peculiar customs of dress of the natives showing (Continued on Page 5)

Seniors Give Last Concert

First Commencement Event Held At Chapel Thursday

The Commencement concert of the Conservatory of music was given at Memorial chapel, Thursday evening, June 6. The program consisted of numbers by graduating students, accompanied by the conservatory orchestra, directed by Percy Fullinwider.

The first number on the program, which was the Ballet Music from Schubert's "Rosamunde," was played by the orchestra with the excellent ensemble work, marked by fine degrees of shading and interpretation, characteristic of Fullinwider's efficient and musicianly direction.

Margaret Martin, student of William C. Webb, who receives a Bachelor of Music degree with a major in organ, played the Allegro from the Fifth Symphony of Widor. This is one of the most difficult selections written for the organ, and displayed the technical skill of Miss Martin.

"Il balen," aria from "Il Trovatore" by Verdi was sung by David Bruce Secular, from the studio of Carl J. Waterman, accompanied by Lucille Nelson. The performance was exceptional because of beauty of tone, good diction, and fine interpretation.

Oscar Hoh, violinist from the studio of Percy Fullinwider, played the Concerto No. 6 of Mozart, accompanied by the orchestra, with excellent technique.

"My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice," aria from the opera "Samson and Delilah," by Saint-Saens, was sung by Lois Schilling, contralto from the studio of Helen Mueller, with excellent diction, tone production, and interpretation. The performance was outstanding because of charming stage personality. She was accompanied by Mrs. Fullinwider.

Elizabeth Thompson, student of Gladys Ives Brainard, who graduates with a Bachelor of Music, played the Schumann piano Concerto in A minor, Allegro vivace, with Miss Brainard at the second piano, accompanied by the orchestra. The performance was marked by artistic accentuation, dynamics, and fine tone quality.

"Largo al factotum," aria from "The Barber of Seville," by Rossini, was sung by Franklyn LeFevre, also a student of Carl J. Waterman, with dramatic force, realistic interpretation and good tone placement. Mrs. Fullinwider accompanied at the piano.

The most brilliant number on the program was the Tchaikovsky Concerto (No. 1 in B flat minor, Opus 23, Andante no troppo e molto maestoso, played by Everett Roubush, accompanied by Ruth Orthmann at the second piano, and the orchestra. This concerto requires great technical skill, and was performed by Roubush with clearness of tone, masterful control and brilliant finger technique. Roubush receives a Bachelor of Music with a major in piano.

Charles Passmore, ex '19, and Dempster Passmore, '18, Chicago, visited at the Beta Sigma Phi fraternity house Monday.

Short Sport Spasms

And here's the end of another year of athletics and other things. It's been a great old year in every way and its tough to see it ended, but cheer up. There's another one coming that's going to be even better. Don't go committing suicide or anything during the summer, but just come back next fall and watch things hum.

There are some of the boys who are going to get diplomas today who will be missed a great deal, however, Barfell, for one. It won't seem right to see the football team on the field without him, or the wrestling team without Bar's opponent falling to the mat.

Humphrey, Bloomer, and Shauer are going to leave further vacancies on the gridiron, and the former will be missed in track, too. He's always been good for a few points, and those few points have always been a help. It will seem funny for anyone else to win the boxing championship of his class too. That's been an annual event with "Red" for the past four years.

And then there's Ray Menning, captain of the 1929 state championship track team (sounds pretty good). Menning ran on three championship cross country teams and two championship track teams in addition to captaining the last one. Certainly a fine record to leave behind.

Well, let's look over next year's prospects a little. Take football, for instance. A real coach, wonderful material, swell equipment, a fighting captain, lots of support—add it up for yourself. It equals one big season.

And then basketball. A real coach, wonderful material—but why repeat? The figures are all the same and the total is the same. Don't forget, however, that the last item is important—the one about support. Without that the rest don't mean very much.

NEXT YEAR IT LOOKS AS IF WE'D HAVE TO TAKE THE THIRD CHAMPIONSHIP IN TRACK. POPE AND WOLF WILL BE LEADING THE LAWRENCE SQUAD, AND ANY OTHER SQUAD THAT TRIES TO KEEP UP WITH THEM. IF THEY'RE DASH MEN, HOWIE WILL TAKE THEM, IF THEY'RE DISTANCE RUNNERS, LET THEM TRY TO FOLLOW CHARLIE AROUND FOR A COUPLE OF MILES.

All in all, it's going to be a great year for the old Elms on the campus and all that sort of thing. Incidentally, if you know any young athletes who want to have gold footballs, basketballs, or track shoes, send 'em up here to school.

See you next year.

Ripon Yearlings In Win Over Frosh, 79-38

Barbour, Ripon, and Arthur, Lawrence
Are Stars

In the last meet of the year at Whiting field last Friday, Coach Trepanitis' yearling track team was defeated by the Ripon frosh, 79 to 38.

Barbour of Ripon was high point man in the meet with three firsts in the broad jump, high hurdles, and low hurdles. Arthur of Lawrence was second high man with 12 points won by a first place in the 440 dash, a tie for first in the 220, and a second in the century.

Pope and Wolf To Lead 1930 Track Team

Three Season Stars Chosen

Election Is Last Event For Season; Things Look Good for '30

At the close of a successful track season, Coach A. C. Denney's squad having carried off its second successive state championship, Howard Pope and Charles Wolf, both '30, were elected co-captains of the 1930 team. These two men, both of them having entered school before the present freshman ruling was in effect, have been awarded letters in track every year since their entrance to school and are the only two men in college who are eligible for four letters in one varsity sport.

Pope, Star Sprinter

Pope has been carrying most of the sprint burden for the team in addition to his work in the broad jump. He has placed in every meet this year, including the one at Madison, and has been high point man for Lawrence in practically every one.

In the 100 and the 220 yard dashes, he has beaten every one in the state colleges, while his running as anchor man on the relay team has been an important factor in its success. In the broad jump, the versatile star has attained similar success, placing first in the state meet and second at the Midwest meet.

Wolf One Of Best

In Wolf, Denney has found one of the best distance men ever found in a "Little Four" college. In the mile and the two mile runs, Wolf has defeated the best the rest of the state could produce, running on three championship cross country teams in addition to his track work, and leading this year's barriers as captain. In his two track events, Wolf has rarely failed to score points, almost always copying first honors in the longer event, and staying close to Captain Menning of this year's team in the mile.

As a fitting close to the current season, Wolf, after scoring third in an exceptionally fast mile, stepped off the two mile in 10 minutes 26 3/10 seconds to carry off first place in the state meet.

"L" Sweaters Are Given To Netmen

A successful tennis season, under the coaching of Prof. F. W. Clippinger, was brought officially to a close last week when it was announced that only three men would receive the sweater and letter awards for the court game.

Those who will receive awards are Harry Hanson, '29, Art Parker, '30, and Neal Klausner, '31. Awards are based on a system of points obtained by winning games in conference matches.

The final match of the season was played last week at Ripon. Lawrence walked off with the affair by a score of 4 to 3. Charlie Barnes was the only Lawrence man to lose his singles match. Parker, Klausner, Marceau and Hooley all won their matches. In the doubles division Barnes and Parker, and Hooley and Marceau all went down with the low end of the score.

D.I.'s Win Fraternity Title; Theta Phi Next

Close Race Ends With Winners Holding 121 Point Margin

Interfraternity Sports

Fraternity	Points
Delta Iota	1139
Theta Phi	1018
Phi Kappa Tau	824
Sigma Phi Epsilon	698
Beta Sigma Phi	639
Phi Kappa Alpha	630
Psi Chi Omega	420
Delta Sigma Tau	396

Going through a supremacy race made closer by a new point system, Delta Iota nosed out the Theta Phi to carry off the all sports trophy for the third successive year with a total of 1139 points. The Theta Phi scored 121 points less than the victors, while the Phi Taus followed in third place with 200 points less than the Theta Phi.

The D.I.'s scored points in eight of the nine events, failing to enter the scoring column in tennis, and placing no lower than third in any event. Three championships were credited to the Union-st. aggregation in volleyball, relay and baseball, and third places were taken in basketball, golf, and horseshoe. In foul throwing the D.I.'s took second.

The Theta Phi placed in every event, taking championships in tennis and golf, and piling up the rest of their total in two second places, one tie for first, two thirds, two fourths and a tie for seventh. The Phi Taus also took three championships, coming through on top of the column in basketball, bowling, and horseshoes.

The Sig Eps, placing fourth, accounted for the remaining championship in foul throwing, and took places in six other events, placing with three seconds, one third, and two seventh places.

Menning And Pope Compete In Midwest

As the final event of the 1929 track season, Captain Menning and co-captain Pope journeyed to Carleton to compete in the Midwest meet held there Friday, May 31. Menning was entered in the mile event against the best competition of the Midwest, while Pope was scheduled for his usual three events, the century, the 220 yard dash, and the broad jump.

Although Menning has been stepping off the mile in fast time the latter part of this season, taking first in the state with the record-breaking time of 4 minutes 33 7/10 seconds, close pocketing kept him from placing in spite of the fact that he fought his way up to fifth place as he crossed the tape.

Pope upheld the caliber of his year's work by scoring two fourths and a second place. In the 100 yard dash and the 220, after qualifying in the trials, Pope came through for his two fourth places, both of the races being stepped off in low times. In the broad jump the junior star pressed close upon the heels of the first place winner, losing out by a fraction of an inch with a jump close to the 22 foot mark.

Lawrence Athletic Teams Enjoy Successful Season

By Vinton Jarrett

Under the direction of Coach Clarence Rasmussen in football and the tutelage of A. C. Denney in basketball and track, the Viking teams came through the former two seasons with admirable records and rolled up the second successive state track championship. Coach Rasmussen, at the close of the football season, devoted his energy to the building up of boxing and wrestling squads, while freshmen athletics and swimming were under the charge of Freshman Coach Trepanitis.

"Rass's" football men, laboring under the handicap of an entirely new system, took the field first against Oshkosh Normal and lost by a bad break in the last half. The next week Marquette came to Appleton, confident of carrying off an easy win, but the Vikings held them to a close 19-7 victory, carrying the ball far into the Gold territory on several occasions.

After losing a tough game to Carleton, the gridders trampled over Lake Forest decisively, but dropped the next two games, the first to Beloit by a single point margin and the next one when Ripon rang up the most decisive victory of the year on the crippled Blue and White squad.

As a final plunge back to successful football, Lawrence took on the powerful Carroll team for the last game of the season, with the odds heavily against the locals. After battling through a field of mud and snow for three full quarters, the Carroll defense weakened and Lawrence pushed down to within kicking distance of the goal posts. The wind made St. Mitchell's perfect kick a bit wide of the post, however, and the game ended a scoreless tie in Lawrence's favor.

The beginning of the basketball season found the local hopes running high with all of last year's team back, and an influx of sophomores who made up a classy team in themselves. The work had been cut out for Denney and his eager, however, in the form of one of the toughest schedules a Lawrence quintet ever went through.

Starting with Hamline, the team rang up its first victory on the home floor, but lost the next tilt to Marquette. After coming back with a beating given to Carroll, the "jinx" started its work and the disasters began. Scholarship took its toll at the end of the semester and the squad, having lost Schneller and Steinberg, lost to Lombard in spite of the fine work of Laird who was forced to play the entire game at center.

But the "jinx" was not finished with its deadly work yet. Biggers, star sophomore forward, was the victim of a sprained ankle shortly before the Knox game, and a few days later an automobile accident resulted in a broken arm for Pierce, a guard.

Three straight beatings from Knox, Carleton, and Carroll were taken by the Blue quintet before they hit their stride again. The last two games of the season found every Viking on his toes, and Ripon and Beloit fell before the vicious attack of the scrapping Blues, closing the season with Lawrence standing .500 percent in both the Midwest and Little Four loops.

Track found Denney hard at work again with his eye on a repetition of last year's performance in the state meet. From the first of the season the Blue and White squad looked good, scoring ahead of the rest of the state colleges in the meet at Madison. Oshkosh Normal was the next victim of the Vikes, losing a dual meet by an easy margin. Beloit fared little better than Oshkosh in the next dual meet of the season, but the Marquette squad ran up an easy win over the Denney men the next week.

A week after the Marquette meet found the squad ready to travel to Beloit for the state meet. From the first event, every man came through, Pope being high score man for the meet and Captain Menning breaking the record in the mile. Carroll was nosed out by a margin of 13 points at the close of the meet, and the championship came to rest once more at Lawrence headquarters.

In the minor sports, the season was equally successful. Denney sent forth his third successive cross country champions in the fall under the leadership of Wolf, veteran of three years. The team repeated past performances, winning every meet decisively.

The wrestling squad was under the direction of Coach Rasmussen who scheduled other college teams for a stiff season. The grapplers, led by Setter, lost only two matches during

Barfell Wins Honor Medal

Fischer Award Given In Recognition of Scholarship, Athletics

In recognition of four years of proficiency in scholarship, sportsmanship, and athletics, the Fischer medal, awarded annually to the senior man who is outstanding in these three fields, was this year voted to Ralph Barfell, Brawley, California. In this, the fourth year of the awarding of this honor, the medal was for the first time given to a man who was not a resident of Appleton. Jake Zossman was the first winner of the medal in 1926, while "Snookie" Heideman and Doug Hyde have received it the last two years.

Barfell Real Star

ed his athletic career with football, basketball, and wrestling, carrying the former sport through four years and leading the 1928 gridders in the position of captain. In wrestling, he has been a mainstay for four years, competing in practically every match and being a valuable factor in building up the sport to the position it now holds.

Although his efforts in track did not meet with as much success as the other two, he was a member of that squad in addition to his work in various inter fraternity and intramural sports.

Clothes That College Men Wear in Real Life—not Judge

The College man is not a mystery to us nor is his clothing a monstrosity.

To this store College men are sane and intelligent humans—not a page out of College Humor. They like to dress well—but never swell. They never jump at the new just because it's new—it must have something else to recommend it.

This Store is showing what is being seen in the smartest fraternity houses — and in June when Lawrence men return to Mother's cooking, they can go dressed in what is correct.

THE TIE THAT BINDS

"Sweet are the days we spend here,
Strong are the ties we form,
Friendships that last forever,
And helps us through sunshine and storm."

This excerpt from the second verse of the Lawrence "Alma Mater" is one which most fittingly describes the feelings of many seniors at this time. Those who have been looking forward to this day for four years are now regretting that the day has arrived.

It is hard to realize that one of the most enjoyable periods of their life has come to an end, and that they will no longer mix work and play on the Lawrence campus—but, in other more widely distributed fields of enterprise.

But the ties that have been formed are strong ones, and the friendships formed will last forever. This fact will become more and more apparent each year as the "new alumni" return to visit the scenes of their college days.

A striking illustration of the tie that binds Lawrentians to the college is seen this year in the return of the entire class of 1879 for a reunion here on the campus. This class is paying Lawrence a high tribute, as are the other alumni groups that are meeting here for reunions.

CONGRATULATIONS—GOOD LUCK

And, now, in this, the commencement edition, and the last paper of the year of 1928-29, the Lawrentian extends to the graduates congratulations and the best wishes of the entire student body.

Report Given To Trustees

Dr. Wriston Reviews Year In Annual Speech Friday

"One of the bright spots of the year was the visit to the campus of Bishop Lawrence and his son," President Wriston said in his annual report to the trustees and visitors June 7. "The college owes its existence to the vision, public spirit, and philanthropic temper of his father. The library was established by the same family, and the bulk of its endowment remains the fruit of that original gift. Many students remarked that the visit of Bishop Lawrence and of his son brought them a clearer appreciation of the significance of the college tradition than they had ever had before."

"An education may be fairly defined as the acquisition and improvement of a sense of values," he said in commenting upon the close harmony among the faculty and students and the high character of the work of Lawrence students. "The educated man must know what is worthwhile, not only in a material, but in a moral sense, and even in the field of emotion. It is not enough to have intellectual equipment, for there must be character to give it direction and meaning," the president went on to say.

"Lawrence does notably well—it is fair to say brilliantly well—in the field of music appreciation. It would be difficult to find a student body anywhere in the United States more continuous in the field of art, the college was one continuously exposed to fine music. In of the pioneers in teaching art appreciation, and that work has now been supplemented by exhibits designed to keep constantly before the eyes of the students things of value in an aesthetic sense."

In discussing the religious life on the campus President Wriston remarked, "The attendance of students at morning worship in the churches is very good, and pastors report that it is better this year than in previous years. I can only give it as my opinion that there is occasion for care, but not for worry, and for intelligent effort, but not for doubt, as to the soundness of the moral fibre and the spiritual life of our student body."

A resume and appreciation of the many and unusual gifts to the college this year precedes the conclusion, in which Dr. Wriston says, "I have no hesitation in saying that morally and intellectually the health of the college is excellent. Financially it is in need of attention. Our educational structure rests upon our financial foundation. If that foundation is not strengthened, it will not support the educational operations upon the standard built up through the years by a devoted faculty and administrative staff. There is no cure, but new money, promptly."

Athena Society, Organized In 1858, Holds Last Meeting

By Bertha Greenberg

The Athena society, the last of the four great literary societies that dominated Lawrence social life for the greater part of the history of the college, held its last meeting Friday night at Ormsby parlors. Old Athena furniture turned the parlor into a replica of the room that the society used for its functions.

The Athena society was organized in 1858, and, like other literary societies, for many years remained the only form of student self-expression. The Athena for women and the Phalathian for men combined forces against the Laurean for women and the Phoenix for men. Alumni still remember the intense rivalry that existed between the two groups when every student was a member of one of the four.

The program for Friday night was of the traditional type that was given every Friday night when the societies were prominent. Ada E. Meyers, '90, presided at the meeting. Clara Stansbury Young, '97, read the history of the society as the secretary's report and the treasurer's report by Elsie Plantz Remley, '10, was a statement of the property in possession of the society.

The most impressive part of the program was the concluding ceremony when the headless statue of Athena, given to the society by Alice Jones, '89, daughter of Professor H. A. Jones, and the white owl emblem, the gift of Professor Frank Kramer, were interred. The Knobby grand piano, the property of the society, will be kept at Russell Sage. The secretary's desk was willed to the college and will be kept in Main hall. The bust of Shakespeare and the Bible were given to the American historical museum.

Pi Delta Epsilon Cup Awarded To Klatt As Best Fresh Reporter

Howard Klatt, Milwaukee, will receive the silver cup awarded annually by Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic fraternity, to the most outstanding boy reporter on the Lawrentian staff, it was decided at a meeting of the organization recently. During the last year, Klatt has been a member of the Lawrentian reportorial staff, and was easily the most outstanding freshman reporter.

Last year the cup was awarded to Hayward Biggers.

the schedule. All-campus wrestling championships were also run off for the various weights.

Boxing did not lack support either, although intercollegiate matches were not scheduled. Nearby tournaments all through the valley were visited by the Lawrence scrappers, Joseph and English being the best performers of the squad, the former placing well up in the Golden Gloves tourney at Chicago. All-campus championships were also fought out for each class in this sport.

Under the supervision of Trepanitis, the swimming team came through for a good record in several meets with the Green Bay Y.M.C.A. and Kaukauna High school squads. With the facilities which the pool in the new gymnasium will furnish next year, swimming will be brought up to the intercollegiate standard of competition.

Three Chosen As Trustees

Rosenberry, MacCrone, Rasey, Are Appointed To Board

Election of three men to Lawrence college board of trustees was announced Friday by Dr. Henry M. Wriston. The new members of the board are: Marvin B. Rosenberry, chief justice of Wisconsin state supreme court; E. E. MacCrone, president of E. E. MacCrone, Investment Bankers, of Detroit, Mich.; and Lee Rasey, manager of Wisconsin-Michigan district for Dillon, Read and company, largest investment banking firm in the world.

Mr. Rasey is the only new member who is a graduate of Lawrence. He completed four years of work here in 1913, and was principal of Appleton high school for several years after his graduation. Rasey is a member of Lawrence college chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Marvin B. Rosenberry was born in Ohio in 1868. He attended Michigan state normal school at Ypsilanti, Michigan and graduated from Michigan university with an LL.B. degree in 1893. He began practicing law at Wausau the year of his graduation, and was a member of Bump, Kreutzer and Rosenberry firm from 1895 to 1901. From 1902 to 1908 Mr. Rosenberry was city attorney for Wausau. He was appointed justice of Wisconsin state supreme court in 1916 and was re-appointed in 1919. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the Wisconsin Bar Association and the American Law Institute, and is now chief justice of the state supreme court.

E. E. MacCrone is one of America's foremost financiers. He is chairman of the Board of the Investment Company of America, in addition to being president of the Investment Bankers of Detroit.

Lael Westberg, '28, and Ralph Culnan, '24, both of Marinette, visited fraternity brothers at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house last week.

Lawrence Confers Five Honor Degrees

in me by the board of trustees, I confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Science."

In conferring the degree of doctor of fine arts upon Bertha Evelyn Jacques, Wriston said: "The distinction you have won as an etcher entitles you to recognition, but we would honor also the originality of mind which has carried you into artistic experimentation. The eagerness of spirit which has made you an evangel of art appreciation, the warmth of heart which has made you the friend and helper of other artists. From the ashes of tragedy your unconquerable spirit brought richness of expression."

Her work has been exhibited in the Chicago Art Institute, Smithsonian Institute, Library of Congress, and the New York Public Library.

In conferring the degree of doctor of divinity upon Harry Carl Slater, Dr. Wriston said: "The industry and scholarly appreciation which won you first honors in undergraduate days, has continued to carry you forward to fresh successes. Because of the clarity of your thought, the spiritual insight of your preaching, and the intellectual standards you have so admirably maintained, we welcome you again to our campus, and by writing the authority vested in me by the board of trustees, I confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Divinity, honoris causa, and admit you to all its rights and privileges."

He received his B.A. in 1907 when he was graduated from Lawrence college and his S.T.B. in 1909 from the university of Boston. He joined the Wisconsin conference in 1909 and in 1916 he was transferred to California. In 1918 he was chaplain in the army. He specializes in boy's work.

Glen Buck, advertiser, was given the degree of doctor of business administration. As he conferred the degree Dr. Wriston said: "Because you have been a crusader for integrity in business and truth in advertising, because in addition to sound judgment and constructive policies, you have brought to many business enterprises the breadth of outlook and the richness of background which are the essence of a liberation education, we are glad to honor you. I confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Business Administration, and admit you to all its rights and privileges."

Mr. Buck has handled some of the outstanding advertising accounts such as the Ford, Lincoln, Packard, the Schaeffer pen, the Sellers kitchen cabinet, and Kuppenheimer clothes.

Trinity Club Elects New Officers At Picnic

Members of the Trinity club held their annual picnic at the home of Prof. J. H. Farley, Sunday afternoon. The following officers were elected for next year at a meeting after the picnic: President, Henrietta Pratt, '30; first and second vice-presidents, Alice Norcross, '30, and Irene Ungrodt, '31; secretary, Helen Erickson, '31; treasurer, Walter Lester, '31, and the "Black Rod," Neal Klausner, '30.

Exhibit Of Baskets Is On Display Now

A large exhibit of baskets loaned to Lawrence college by residents of Appleton is being displayed on the second floor of the college library until the latter part of June. Miss Anna Tenney has presented five of the baskets to the Lawrence museum.

The display represents the workmanship of about twenty different nations. Some of them are, Egypt, Africa, Malacca, Alaska, Nassau, Panama, and the work of the Menominee and Arizona Indians. One of the exhibits from Malacca is a nest of five hexagonal baskets made of cactus fibre. A hip basket from the Bahama Islands also is of interest.

Harold Anderson, '28, and Ebert Smith, '27, Lombard, spent the week end at the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house.
